Efficiency

Lt. Col. Harold M. Hayes, Maine's Selective Service Director, and Lt. Col. Richard F. Saville, Chief of Veterans Personnel Division have received the Army Commendation ribbon by direction of the Secretary of War.

Notifications of the citations was from Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, National Selective Service Director, who said Hayes had "discharged the responsibilities of his office, increased by problems of postwar adjustment, with distinction."

Hershey said Saville organized the Veterans Assistance Program in a "distinctive and efficient" manner. Saville is a Waterville resident.

ROCKLEDGE INN IS SOLDPopular Spruce Head Island Resort Taken Over By a Bay State Man

A real estate deal which will interest a wide range of readers was completed yesterday when Mr. and Percy L. McPhee, Charles H. Thornton, Gerald S. Grant, Cecil E. Murphy, Ernest A. Rogers, Raymond L. Watts, Alfred J. Harjula, Carleton E. Morse, George C. Sandner, Freeman S. Young as aides.

The line of march will be right of line on South Main street at Gen. Berry Square; thence Main street to Taibot avenue; to Union street; to Park street; to Main street; to Public Landing and disband.

The parade will be reviewed by the officers of the Grand Commandery of Maine from a reviewing stand erected on the steps of the Universalist Church. The parade will disband at the Public Landing. Schofield-White Park has been turned over to Claremont Commandery for the day to be used as a parking space for the cars of their guests.

A shore dinner will be provided at Witham's Lobster Pound at 1 o'clock. This will be followed by an afternoon of sports consisting of softball, horseshoes, archery and tennis, plus a band concert.

A buffet lunch will be served at Masonic Temple from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m., prior to the departure of the visitors for their homes.

Commander Robert Pendleton of Claremont Commandery is general chairman of the pilgrimage; assisted by J. E. Stevens as secretary and Edward O'B. Gonia as treasurer.

Rockland merchants are co-operating in the display of the national ensign in front of their stores, all of which will add to the colorful display offered by the uniforms of the Knights Templars and the bands spaced out through the line.

Mrs. Thomas L. Maker sold Rockledge Inn on Spruce Head Island to Wilfred D. Broadfoot of Methuen, Mass.

The Inn, which is one of the best known hostels on the Maine coast, was visited by fire some week ago, but has been thoroughly repaired.

The new proprietor, who was formerly in the hotel business, will take charge as soon as he can settle his business affairs in Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Maker, whose handling of Rockledge Inn made it a popular abiding place for summer tourists, will remain with the new proprietor for a while.

The sale was made through the real estate agency conducted by Carl O. Nelson and Franklin Wood.

Rescue Tug ReturnsThe Snohomish Will Operate
Again From Coast Guard Base

Lieut. Commander John A. Joseph, commanding officer of the Rockland Coast Guard Base, announced this morning that he had received notice through an official despatch that the rescue tug, Snohomish, would return to this port in the early part of next week to resume her duties.

The despatch assigned her to Rockland for offshore rescue work and general duties out of Rockland.

Commanded by Lieut. Samuel Gamache, she established a splendid record of rescue work and ice breaking during the past several years. Some three months ago, Coast Guard officials removed her

YACHT CLUB TO REOPENBuilding Is Being Completely Renovated—A Community Affair Deserving Everybody's Support

The Rockland Community Yacht Club, which suspended operations at the beginning of World War 2, plans to reopen its building at the Public Landing just as soon as the interior renovation is completed. This work is being done by the Sea Scouts, with the city furnishing the paint. The roof has been repaired by the city, and when the doors swing open in the near future the citizens and visitors are bound to exclaim in admiration at the improvements which have been wrought.

Benjamin Dowling has been appointed steward of the Yacht Club, and Mrs. Dowling will conduct a sandwich shop in the building, which will be open every day in the week from 7 a. m. until 10:30 p. m.

An extra float will be put down for the convenience of yachts and other boats which make use of the Public Landing.

The outside premises of the Yacht Club are being brushed up to be in keeping with the attractive Yacht Club structure.

All in all the institution is one which will be a tremendous asset to the city. Hundreds of cars park there regularly, and you, Mr. Citizen, are making a great mistake if you do not drop down there and enjoy the beautiful and peaceful scene. The Yacht Club is only a 3-minute walk from the Maine Central depot, is equipped with a telephone pay station, and has the only public lavatory in the city. There is an abundance of parking space.

J. N. Southard, the veteran commodore of the Community Yacht Club wants to impress firmly upon the minds of Rockland citizens that it is no exclusive, or private affair.

The city owns the land and buildings and the Yacht Club is purely a community institution supported by voluntary contributions. There will be no hesitation on the part of those citizens who are soon to be approached to be members at the nominal fee of $1.

The campaign will be started just as soon as the club building is open. Drop down there and see why you should be long, and why it is a big Summer asset to the city.

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

Bert Farnham is right. There is a sugar shortage in Rockland. And probably that's why he sent me a piece of sugar cane. A thoughtful chap is Bert, or to give him his better known name—Free Member.

If Charles Prescott ever revived the Great Eastern Circus his dog would certainly figure in one of the performances. Charles lost two five-dollar bills Wednesday and went back home to search for them. His dog joined in the search and soon brought him one of the missing bills. "Go find," said Charles and the intelligent canine searched until he found the other one.

A thoroughly scared spaniel was the shivering center of a tempest in a teapot late Tuesday night with the fire department, an amazingly large crowd and about a hundred night prowling automobiles contributing. The animal had crowded into an open surface drain on Rankin street, pursuing whatever small dogs pursue, and, unable to retreat, ended up in the catch basin at the corner, where his cries did the rest.

Harry Johnson of Swan's Island has been over this week on a long deferred visit to the mainland. He tangled successfully in several cribbage encounters, and sang lustily at the meeting of the Rockland Lions Club of which he is a member. When they elect the most popular non-resident Harry will have a decided edge.

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these, it might have been," and this familiar quotation applies to the Rockland produce dealer who bet a neighboring druggist $100 that Conn would last nine rounds. He came within 41 seconds of it.

A well known real estate agent has a head which is the despair of haters, but he finally located a straw which exactly filled the bill. He was walking proudly around the corner of Limerock street the other day when a heavy gust of wind carried it nearly to the roof of Kimball block. It finally came back to earth and landed on the edge of a sewer opening. Another inch and it would have gone down. Slightly dented and slightly soiled it still adorns Elmer's topknot.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

MEMORIES

However far our feet may roam,
Our minds go drifting back to find
The things that once we loved, the home
With mossy eaves and sagging blind,
The lawn worn smooth by restless feet,
The boy who whistled down the street,
However much the years may bring,
We somehow never quite forget
The hoop we rolled, the pear-tree
The clever, tricks we taught a pet,
And father coming home at night,
To make our little world all right.

Book Review

"Going On Sixteen," author, Betty Cavanna. The Westminster Press, Philadelphia.

When one finds a book with Betty Cavanna's name attached as the author, it means one must have the book, because she writes with an understanding spirit and clear comprehension of the heart of her hero of heroine; and this time it's a teen-age girl.

Her books are free from swearing and cheap thoughts; also sex problems which degrade and disgust the gentle reader of life's deepest moments.

I have taken much pleasure and interest in reviewing her earlier books, "Puppy Stakes" and "The Black Spaniel Mystery," both exceedingly well told stories, showing her fondness for and knowledge of dogs.

"Going On Sixteen" is delightful and full up with the problems that come to girls of that age. Motherless, rather self-conscious, Julie has her own ambitions. She wants to be an artist. She lives with her father on a farm and leads a lonely life, except for her deep love for her Collie pup "Sonny."

The affection between this girl and her dog is worthy of thought and delightful reading, all of it human in its problems and will claim undivided interest and how much she wished to be a real artist.

Kathleen S. Fuller.

EDITORIAL

Except for the year 1942, when Maine voters were too deeply engrossed in war matters to vote, the balloting in last Monday's primary election was the lightest in the history of that ill-starred method.

Formed, presumably, in the interest of "the people" the primaries bi-ennially attract but a small percentage of the voters, and nominations could be won by Tom Dick or Harry, if those gentlemen were inclined to seek it.

The figures last Monday attained the proportions of a joke, the Democrats polling one-fifth of their total and the Republicans considerably less than one-half. In Rockland, and Knox County as a whole, the ratio was much smaller although there were two contests for Governor, a contest for County Attorney and two contests for Representative to Legislature. Many of those who did vote went to the polls to "oblige" somebody, or from pure force of habit.

No need to tell anybody of the expense incurred by those elections, of the double expense which are imposed upon the candidates by two elections, or the fact that under the old system both parties nominated only the highest type of candidates. Senator William P. Frye, Senator Eugene Hale, Congressman Charles E. Littlefield, Congressman Thomas B. Reed, Congressman Nelson Dingley, Jr., and Gov. William T. Cobb. Did those statesmen represent misdeeds on the part of "the old guard" or did they add to the luster of the old Pine Tree State? The Primary law will not be repeated because legislators who believe it should be lack the courage to vote as they think, but we maintain, as we have for some years, that the Primary Election falls far short of the standard which was set for it by the originators.

Eleven Knight Templar Commanderies will assemble in Rockland next Monday for the first St. John's Day pilgrimage the city has known for quite a number of years. Claremont Commandery has played host on many occasions, and has never failed in that responsibility. Nor will it fail this time, although the task will be far greater than it has ever been called upon to shoulder. The mere display of curbstone flags will not be sufficient to express the citizens welcome. They should turn out in force to witness the big forenoon parade, and should do all in their power to aid the Sir Knights of Claremont Commandery in making the visitors feel at home. Every citizen should constitute himself a committee of one to that end.

There are other troubles in the nation's Capital than the problem of finding a place to sleep, and they concern the "goings on" in Congress, where no two factions can seem to agree, although the urgency for immediate agreement is so great that bewildered constituents everywhere are marveling at inaction. We expressed the opinion the other day that the country was never in worse shape, and it has continued to grow worse since then.

MY THANKS TO YOU

May I take this means of expressing my sincere thanks to all those who supported me in Monday's primary election.

HELENA COLTART.

MY APPRECIATION

To the Voters of Knox County who supported me so nicely by their vote in the primary Election.

Twilight League

The Rockland Thomaston game of last Friday which ended with a 5-4 score in favor of Rockland, was protested by Thomaston and will have to be replayed as a result of a League meeting held last night. This changes the League standings, which is now as follows:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Rockland	2	1	.666
Thomaston	2	1	.666
St. George	1	2	.333
Camden	1	2	.333

Camden 7, Rockland 5

The Pirates lost their first league game of the season at Camden Wednesday when the Camden Shells won by a 7-5 score. H. Boynton pitching for the Shells although touched for nine hits was backed up in fine style by his team mates in the field and three snappy double plays pulled him over some tough spots.

The game started in big league style, both teams making some very snappy plays in the first two innings. Rockland led 2 to 0 for five innings and then things began to break badly for the visitors, including two grounders which bounced over the fielders' heads and contributed to the lead which Camden was not slow in accumulating.

Rockland is offering no alibi. Aside from the breaks above mentioned the Camden team played better ball, and started in a number of plays, which would ordinarily have gone for Rockland hits.

Flett, a Summer resident of Pleasant Point and from Chicago, left Pleasant Point in his 33-foot motor boat about noon yesterday. He was accompanied by Mrs. W. S. Allmit of Chicago, Mrs. Mildred Pletz Clarkson of Washington, Mrs. Oliver Cunningham of South Bend, Indiana and Mrs. Clarkson's son, Jack.

They were known to have intended fishing between Monhegan and Matineus and expected to be back at 6 o'clock. About 3 o'clock, they were sighted between Burnt Island and Benner's Island.

get aid for a search for the missing boat and its party. He was promptly placed in touch with the Rockland Coast Guard base by Mr. Moran.

Chief Motor Machinists Mate Clifton T. Doughty, who was serving as Duty Officer at the time sent Boatswain Mates Douglas and Miller to Port Clyde by truck to take out the Burnt Island motor lifeboat in the search shortly after 11 o'clock.

They swept the area where the boat was last seen, all night, working in rain and fog which hampered their activities greatly. They sighted the boat and took it in tow about 5 this morning, arriving at Pleasant Point at 6 o'clock. Neither Mr. Flett or his guests were much other than cold and wet from all night exposure to rain and fog.

Col. Corwin H. Olds Told
Members That Missionary
Movement Was Help

Col. Corwin H. Olds, late chaplain in the Southwest Pacific, which hit as guest speaker at Wednesday's meeting and made a circuit clout. He prefaced his talk with a fine tribute to Dick Reed, Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries, whom he designated as "a good man in the right job." "He has what it takes to put that department ahead," said Col. Olds, who added that Dick did a grand job in the Pacific area.

Col. Olds modestly declared that his own military experience was nothing to speak about, that he was pushed back beyond the lines to do work that was "supervisory and administrative."

He said he fought the war three years in the Southern States and was then transferred to a Pacific base in Hawaii, where he found himself in the center of a great territory covering 33,000,000 square miles.

Col. Olds discussed the sweep of missionary activities across the Pacific Ocean, and that as a result of it he was more than ever stimulated in missionary interest.

In short, he thought that missionaries had done a wonderful job.

Followed an interesting review of the missionary movement from the earliest days.

He cited the case of New Guinea where our forces had expected to meet a murderous, head-hunting people, but found that their love was for gunpowder but for God.

He told of the black eye given in earlier days when the whalers and traders visited the Pacific Islands and practiced every known form of vice, and "blackbirding."

The missionary movement, the speaker said, begins in 1820 and by 1832 the whole effort was self supporting and missionaries were being sent by the converted natives to other islands.

Wednesday's meeting saw the largest attendance for many years, and an especially glad hand was extended to Harry Johnson of Swan's Island who had not been able to meet with his brother Lions for some months.

There was also an ovation for Kink Lion-elect Frank P. Harding, who had just won the County Attorney nomination.

The club holds a joint meeting the third Wednesday in July with the Chamber of Commerce.

Cats And Dogs

This year we seem to have fewer birds, especially robins; and have you cat owners ever watched your cat go after the young robins that are now out of nest and are not accomplished in the bad ways of cats.

Many articles have been written by bird lovers regarding the endless manner in which cats kill our song birds. Requests have from time to time appeared in this newspaper, asking owners of cats to keep them in from dusk until morning, during the nesting season, the time the cats do their killing.

One of my friends told me all members of her family watched with deep interest a nest of robins in a tree near a window. For days both mother and father robin had worked their hearts out feeding and caring for their little family. One morning they were gone, too young to fly and a cat they learned had clawed them out of the nest, leaving parts of their tiny bodies lying on the ground.

It does not seem right for cat owners to be so careless and even callous. The least they could do would be to put a collar on their pets with a bell on it to give the birds half a chance to protect themselves.

Would someone tell me why cats are not taxed the same as dogs? Dogs do not molest birds, and the birds are our willing slaves in eating the insects and worms which destroy our gardens. I say we should stroy our cats and then there might not be so many provokers.

Fellow Citizen.

SUNOCO NOW OFFERS
2 GREAT MOTOR OILS
for different types of driving!

25¢ PER QT. INC. FED. TAX
35¢ PER QT. INC. FED. TAX

BEST FOR NORMAL DRIVING
FOR HARD DRIVING AND HIGH SPEEDS

About 80% of all motorists are "average drivers." Most of their driving is at medium speed, with only an occasional run at high speed. If you are one of these, Sunoco Mercury Made Motor Oil is ideal for your use.

KEEPS ENGINE CLEAN—because it is unsurpassed in purity—made by Sun's exclusive Mercury Process—100% distilled.

PRESERVES POWER—because of minimum carbon content—any carbon formed is light, fluffy and is carried out with exhaust.

PROLONGS BEARING LIFE—naturally non-corrosive quality plus a fortifying additive gives double protection against bearing failure.

REDUCES REPAIR BILLS—assures minimum wear because it flows in greater volume—engine parts clean because it has inherent cleaning quality and is further reinforced against formation of harmful sludge, lacquer and varnish.

ABOUT 20% of motorists are "hard drivers." They drive consistently at high speed or in mountainous country, with the engine operating at nearly full power most of the time. If you are one of these, Sunoco Dynalube is the oil especially designed for you.

GIVES LONG MILEAGE—assures minimum consumption under most severe driving conditions because special process selects long lasting, high viscosity index parts from the crude oil.

DOES NOT BREAK DOWN—it is a highly refined oil, fortified to resist breakdown and corrosion caused by oxidation.

ASSURES FULL COMPRESSION—FULL POWER—because it's reinforced against sludging which causes "stuck" piston rings and loss of power.

PREVENTS HARMFUL DEPOSITS—extremely low carbon content for an oil of its type—mild cleansing action helps keep pistons, rings, valves and other interior engine parts clean.

EACH IS UNEXCELLED FOR ITS PURPOSE!

Farm Bureau Notes

Agricultural Notes

A statewide summary of poultry flocks was conducted by Frank Reed, poultry specialist of the Extension Service, through the Poultry News Letter. It was found that 673 poultrymen had 48% fewer layers June 1 of this year compared with 1945 and were raising 84% fewer pullets for flock replacement.

In Knox and Lincoln counties 84 men reported as having 27,331 layers as compared to 53,501 for last year. This was 51% of last year. There has been 70% of the flocks culled since January 1 of this year. The men were raising 88,332 pullets for flock replacement as compared to 104,483 last year.

A new Forestry Co-operative known as Woodlands Incorporated was recently organized in Damariscotta with headquarters at Pemaquid Harbor. Officers are: John Huntington of Pemaquid Falls, president; John Martin, Damariscotta, vice president; George Hulen, Damariscotta, Clerk; and Harvey Hope, Bremen, treasurer. This organization plans to handle the woodlots of its members in such a way that a yearly income may be obtained from the lot and top prices received for the lumber.

4-H Club Notes

Coggan's Hill 4-H Club of North Union held an ideal club tour June 13. Most of the members met at the home of Allan Martin, to look at his purebred Holstein calf which was as clean and handsome as could be. At Miller's the three boys and Dad have an acre of beans. Danny Dearborn's garden is planted, exactly as planned last winter, and his spinach is four inches high. All of his other vegetables are growing too and not a weed in sight. Danny gave the group a demonstration on how to weed with the hand cultivator. June Dearborn has dandelion greens canned using her mother's pressure cooker; and her sewing was on exhibition.

The next call was at Blake's where John had his garden all planted and Margie had her sewing on display and some muffins which were duly sampled by all.

At the Uphams, Jeanette and Juanita had muffins for all to taste and Jeanette had made a dark spice cake of which any mother could be proud to boast. Here it was discovered that little brother, Oscar, was 10 years old, so he and his calf joined the club.

Surprises are always coming up on every well planned tour; sure enough at the Luce's Arlene and Leslie were harrowing the garden and bean plot, with the oxen. What fun for the boys to ride on the disc harrow with Arlene teaming the big black and white oxen. And Alice, another member, was helping her mother pick over the beans for Dad to plant. Certainly these 4-H members are doing their share in this Famine Emergency Campaign.

The last stop was at Athlene Blake's where muffins and yeast bread were generously sampled. Athlene has a home of her own, a husband and a two year old son. She is using many of the better practices of home making and is learning to be an A-1 cook. She has a new pressure cooker and has just purchased a second hand sewing machine.

Games were played and as a good sized brook was near some of the boys soon disappeared to see about the fishing.

Plans were made to hold a picnic in July.

EAST FRIENDSHIP

Frank Miller is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Emory Philbrook in Matinicus.

Mrs. C. L. Fales is in Boston for a few days.

Fred McGlaulin was in Matinicus the past week on business. Mr. and Mrs. McGlaulin attended the graduation exercises in Boothbay last Friday. Their grandson, Roger McGlaulin, was one of the graduates.

Mr. Watts of New York was a recent visitor at W. A. Bradford's.

Matt Anderson has bought a house lot from C. L. Fales and will build this season. The cellar is already under construction.
